4. Formula D Interactive

Position: Graphic & product design intern

Dates of Employment: October 2012- February 2013

Key Responsibilities: My fields of responsibility included creating graphics and models at the requests of clients. The limited budget of the company forced me to be creative, and I learned how to use Photoshop and various open source software to great effect. Additionally, the tasks often required tight coordination between programmers, designers and management to achieve the best results.

Major Achievements: I played a large role in a project for the South African Rugby Union, in which a geometrical shape resembling rugby player had to be envisioned and designed. The model was meant for an exhibition in which various images would be projected unto the model's surfaces. The project not only taught me important lessons on graphic and product design, but also gave me valuable insight on how to best utilize the different backgrounds and skills of people I worked with. Finally, my internship was extended two months due to the quality of my work.

Reason for leaving: My internship ended.
